

Worth the Visit: Young's Pharmacy & Homecare OF GEORGETOWN

Vital Statistics

Owners: the Young family
Store opened: 1992 in current location; renamed Young's Pharmacy in 1958; had been other drugstores/pharmacies at least as far back as 1857!

Size: 9,500

Employees: 65
47 Main St. South,
Georgetown
905 877 2711

www.youngspharmacy.com

Good for: much more than pharmaceuticals! Home healthcare products, nursing services, gift shop, cosmetics, full post office services & new cancer treatment & recovery boutique "Renaissance Woman"

Philosophy: "We treat customers as we would want to be treated. Customers should enjoy themselves here."

The extra mile: "We try to establish personal relationships with our customers. Our staff enjoy their jobs & it shows." Three vehicles called Medicine Droppers will deliver.

Why it's worth the visit: "This place is different. This place is good. We're a family business with a small-town attitude in a big store, committed to the community. Our name's on it!"

Ruth and Neil Young in the consultation area. Neil calls the dispensary the heart of the pharmacy.

More than a drugstore! The gift shop has beautiful, unusual products for home, garden and personal use. With stock changing frequently, there's always something new.

Special hats, wigs, sun protection, bathing suits and lingerie for cancer treatment and recovery in the new Renaissance Woman boutique can mean avoiding a trip to Toronto.